‘RISK DISCLOSURE STATEMENT’ refers to the notice provided by us to you in compliance with CBB Rules outlining the risks associated with trading Transactions under this Agreement;

‘RISK OF LOWER LIQUIDITY’ Liquidity refers to the ability of market participants to buy and sell securities.

Generally, the more orders that are available in a market, the greater the liquidity. Liquidity is important because with greater liquidity it is easier for investors to buy or sell securities, and as a result, investors are more likely to pay or receive a competitive price for securities purchased or sold. There may be lower levels of liquidity in extended hours trading as compared to regular market hours. As a result, your order may only be partially executed, or not at all.

‘RISK OF HIGHER VOLATILITY’ Volatility refers to the changes in price that securities undergo when trading.

Generally, the higher the volatility of a security, the greater its price swings. There may be greater levels of volatility in extended hours trading than in regular market hours. As a result, your order may only be partially executed, or not at all, or you may receive an inferior price in extended hours trading to what you might receive during regular market hours.

‘RISK OF CHANGING PRICES’ The prices of securities traded in extended hours trading may not reflect the prices either at the end of regular market hours, or upon the opening of the next morning. As a result, you may receive an inferior price in extended hours trading to what you might receive during regular market hours.

‘RISK OF UNLINKED MARKETS’ Depending on the extended hours trading system or the time of day, the prices displayed on a particular extended hours systems may not reflect the prices on other concurrently operating extended hours trading systems dealing in the same securities.

‘RISK OF NEWS ANNOUNCEMENTS’ Normally, issuers release news announcements that may affect the price of their securities outside of regular market hours. Similarly, important financial information is frequently announced outside of regular market hours. In extended hours trading, these announcements may occur during trading, and if combined with lower liquidity and higher volatility, may cause an exaggerated and unsustainable effect on the price of a security.

‘RISK OF WIDER SPREADS’ The spread refers to the difference in price between what you can buy a security for and what you can sell it for. Lower liquidity and higher volatility in extended hours trading may result in wider than normal spreads for a particular security.

‘RISK OF LACK OF CALCULATION OR DISSEMINATION OF UNDERLYING INDEX VALUE OR INTRADAY INDICATIVE VALUE’

For certain Derivative Securities Products, an updated underlying index value, or IIV, may not be calculated or publicly disseminated in extended trading hours. Since the underlying index value and IIV are not calculated or widely disseminated during the pre-market and post-market sessions an investor who is unable to calculate implied values for certain Derivative Securities Products in those sessions may be at a disadvantage to market professionals.

‘TRADING PARTNER’ refers to any individual or entity with whom we have a contractual relationship with, such as a joint venture, partnership relationship, agency relationship or introducing broker relationship;

‘TRAILING STOP’ is similar to a Stop Order, with the difference being that a Trailing Stop enables you to set a floating stop level that automatically moves when our quote moves in your favour;

‘TRANSACTION’ means an agreement, or communication, carried out between a buyer and a seller to exchange an asset for a payment. A stock transaction is what happens to a stock when it changes ownership. When you give a market order, you’re ordering CFI to buy or sell a specified number of stocks in a certain company at the current market price.

By designating a sale as “long”, You affirm to CFI that you own the security and commit to delivering it to CFI by the settlement date if it is not already in CFI’s possession when you place the sale order. Failure to deliver the security to CFI by the settlement date, may result in CFI purchasing the security for your account, at the current market price, and you agree to compensate CFI for any resulting loss, commission and/or fees.
- b. We may receive your Instruction to Deal orally by telephone, electronically via our Electronic Trading Services or through other means as notified to you from time to time. - c. An Instruction to Deal will be initiated by you offering to Buy or Sell an Instrument in a specified quantity and with reference to a specific order type. Instructions to Deal form a commitment that can only be revoked by you with our prior consent (such consent will not be unreasonably withheld) at any time before the Instruction to Deal is executed. You acknowledge and accept that the market price of any Instrument may have fluctuated between our receipt and acceptance of your Instruction to Deal and our attempt to execute it. In such cases, the third party providing the quotation to us is not obliged to honour the indicative price you have received and, if that is the case, we may reject your Instruction to Deal. Such movements in price may be in your favour or against you.

- e. The Client acknowledges and accepts that prices in different markets are electronically generated by CFI execution venues. These Prices incorporate market data from various sources to ensure that execution venues assess the fairness of their prices while fulfilling the best execution obligation. However, prices may not align with those seen elsewhere including prices quoted on Trading Venues or by other providers. It is important to note that in case of a market fluctuations and/or technical conditions, in addition to circumstances outside CFI and its execution venues control, the prices you see on your device and/or which you are provided when you place an order, may not match the price at which the Trade is executed. Furthermore, there may be instances where liquidity is insufficient or limitations and restrictions are imposed by CFI and/or CFI Execution venues, in which case CFI must adhere to the same restrictions and limitation on its Execution venues. In such cases, the Client accepts and commits to hold CFI harmless from any consequences resulting from such restrictions on his trading account.
- f. If required by Governing Regulations, when placing any sell order with, or reporting a sell order to us for, a long account, you must designate the order accordingly. Your designation of an order as “long” shall constitute your representation that statements (i) and (ii) are true and accurate. In addition, the designation of a sell order for a long account shall represents that such security may be sold without any restriction in the open market.
- g. When instructing us to purchase a security, you are required to make payment to us on or before the settlement date. Failure to make payment by the settlement date, authorizes CFI, at CFI’s sole discretion and without prior notice to you, to sell the purchased security or any other securities in your Account to settle the debt. You understand that you will be solely responsible for any resulting loss. Alternatively, if you fail to pay for a security purchased by you by the settlement date, you understand that your Account may be subject to a late fee, in addition to interest charged on the full amount of the deficit in your cash Account.
- h. When you Buy an Instrument, you are responsible for the consideration for the Transaction, as well as any applicable Commission, Charges and Taxes. You are responsible for ensuring that all relevant charges, fees, and taxes associated with the Transaction are paid in accordance with the applicable laws and regulations of the respective jurisdictions.
- i. Monies deducted will not be treated as client money on the day of expected settlement. If settlement does not occur on the expected day, the deducted monies will be treated as client money. - k. Each Instruction to Deal or Transaction you enter into will be binding on you even if by doing so, you exceed any applicable limit in your dealings with us.

- I. We may, at our absolute discretion, provide you with access to 'Orders'. Not all Orders are available on all Instruments or Underlying Markets, and their availability may vary across Electronic Trading Services. Orders may function differently depending on the third party to which we route your Order.

By using such Orders, you expressly acknowledge and agree that it is your responsibility to understand how an Order operates before you place any. It is important to highlight that all limit orders placed on the trading platform are executed at the best available price and not necessarily at the requested price.

- m. The Client acknowledges and accepts that market prices are electronically generated by CFI execution venues. These Prices incorporate market data from various sources to ensure fair pricing while fulfilling the best execution obligation. For instance, pending orders are typically triggered at the market's best available price based on our execution venues. However, these prices may differ from those observed elsewhere (such as prices quoted on Trading Venues or by other providers). It is important to note that market fluctuations and/or technical conditions and circumstances beyond CFI and its execution venues control, may cause disparities between the prices displayed on your device at the time of placing an order and the actual execution price. Additionally, there may be instances where insufficient liquidity or other restrictions imposed on CFI and/or its execution venues necessitate adherence to certain limitations. In such cases, the Client accepts and commits to hold CFI harmless from any result of such restrictions on his trading account.
- n. You may only sell Instruments held on your account, whether settled or unsettled at the time of sale. If you have initiated an Instruction to Sell an Instrument that you do not own at the time of the sale and it is not held on your account, whether settled or unsettled at the time of sale, you authorize us to either cancel that instruction if it has been executed, or, if executed, purchase the equivalent Instrument in the equivalent quantity on your behalf and at your expense. You agree to be liable for any associated fines or charges incurred by us or you.
- o. We may, acting reasonably, refuse to accept an Instruction to Deal if:
 - i you do not have sufficient funds on your account to cover the Transaction costs (including all Commission, Charges and Taxes and any amount in addition to the current price of the Instrument(s) that we reasonably consider necessary);
 - ii the Instruction to Deal is not in accordance with our Terms; you have exceeded any applicable Limits.
 - iii We have concerns about the authenticity of the Instruction, whether it originates from you or an authorized representative.
 - iv Executing the Instruction, would result in a breach of Applicable Regulations, law, rule, regulation or our Terms;
 - v we require further clarification or verification of the Instruction, such as in cases of suspected fraud.

- Clients utilizing the bulk closing feature on Meta Trader5 ("MT5") acknowledge that certain positions may remain open due to market volatility or execution delays. In the event of an execution delay and subsequent price requote, the MT5 platform may not wait for the server's response, resulting in some positions remaining open.

In such cases, it is the client's responsibility to manually reapply the bulk closing feature to close any remaining positions.

This process is managed by MetaQuotes, and CFI holds no control over it. Accordingly, CFI is not liable for any risks incurred, and clients are solely responsible for monitoring and addressing any open positions.

When a Client requests to close multiple positions simultaneously, including through the bulk closing feature, such orders may be consolidated and executed as a single aggregated order depending on system processing and available market liquidity. In such circumstances, execution of the order will be based on the best available market price at the time of execution.

The Client acknowledges and accepts that, due to market conditions, available liquidity, and the depth of the underlying market, the execution price of the consolidated order may differ from the expected price. As a result, execution may occur with slippage depending on the available market depth and prevailing market conditions at the time the order is processed.

All Securities and other property currently held or subsequently acquired by CFI (or by any of its affiliates) whether in CFI's possession or control (or in the possession and control of any such affiliates) for any purpose, in or for any of your Accounts, now or in the future, including any account, margin or cash, in which you have an interest, or which at any time are in your possession or under your control, shall be subject to a lien and security interest for the payment and discharge of, and a right of set off for, any and all indebtedness or obligations you may have to CFI. You agree that CFI holds all your Securities and other property as security for the payment of any such liability or indebtedness to CFI in any said account. CFI, in its sole discretion, without prior notice to you, may use, credit, apply or transfer interchangeably between any of your Accounts at CFI (or an affiliate of CFI) whenever CFI considers such a transaction necessary for its protection.

In such cases, you undertake not to withdraw such funds and/or not to place any trades or positions using these funds. You also agree to return the excess funds immediately upon the Company's request without delay. The Company shall have the right to reverse the relevant entries in order to recover these funds without requiring your prior consent and regardless of any impact this may have on your account or positions. 16- Client Accounts and Safe-Keeping

All funds managed by the Company on behalf of the Client are held either in the name of the Client and/or in the name of the Company acting on behalf of the Client, in accounts held with the following entities:

- a. Central bank
- b. Credit institution
- c. Bank authorized in a third country
- d. Qualifying money market fund (with clients' explicit consent)

In cases where Client funds are not deposited with a central bank, the Company will exercise due skill, care and diligence in selecting, appointing and periodically reviewing the credit institution, bank or money market fund where the funds are placed. Diversification of these funds will also be considered as part of the required due diligence.

- a. Clients acknowledge that the Company earns interest on the clients' bank accounts and such interest cannot be claimed back by the client.
- b. Client Funds will be pooled with funds belonging to other Clients (i.e. in an omnibus account). Consequently, in the event of the insolvency or any analogous proceedings involving the bank/credit institution, the Company may have an unsecured claim against the bank/credit institution on behalf of the Client, and the Client will be exposed to the risk that the money received by the Company from the financial institution is insufficient to satisfy the claims of the Client. Individual Clients will not have a claim against a specific sum in a specific account; instead, a Client's claim will be against the Client Funds pool in general.

- c. Clients Assets shall be held in Accounts with the Company as per the agreement between the Company and the Client, this Agreement and the Law (Governing Legislation).
- d. The Company reserves the right to set-off any amounts held on behalf of the Client against the Client's obligations to the Company and/or amalgamate any Client accounts subject to written agreement.
- e. The Company commits to maintaining separate records of the Client's Assets from those of other clients' and the Company itself:
 - i. Client's Assets are held in Account(s) according to this Agreement, any subsequent agreements and Governing Legislation.
 - ii. The Company will not use Client's funds for its own account unless expressly authorized in writing by the Client and in compliance with regulatory requirements.
 - iii. Securities held by Company for the Client will not be used for Company's own account unless authorized by the Client in writing. Such authorization will only be granted in cases and under terms defined by the competent supervisory authority through official publication, as outlined in the Law concerning the authorization and operating conditions of Bahraini Investment Firms.

Protection of Client Funds

To ensure the protection of client funds, the Company implements the following measures:

- a. segregation of client funds: The Company maintains segregated client accounts with banks/credit institutions ensuring that client funds are fully separated from the Company's own funds at all times.
- b. the selection of reputable banks/credit institutions where clients' funds will be held: The Company exercises all due skill, care and diligence in selecting, appointing and periodically reviewing the institutions where client funds are deposited. This includes considering the expertise and market reputation of these institutions;
- c. Record-keeping and accounting: the Company maintains records and accounts in its systems to distinguish Client assets from its own assets and from assets held for other Clients. Additionally, regular reconciliations are conducted between its internal accounts and records and those of those of any third parties holding client assets.

Leverage

The Client accepts that the margin may be changed at any time by the Company, and in some cases, without prior notice to the Client. The Client should follow the margin level at their expense at all times and ensure that the margin requirements are fully in place as required. In the absence of sufficient actual liquidity to cover the mandatory margin, the Company will close some or all of the open positions at the expense of the Client. The Company may decide to do this before the closure of the global markets on Friday evening (or the evening of the last day of trading in the event of a holiday). However, the Company may decide, without any right of the Client to object, to take any necessary action to protect its interests. The Client accepts to bear the results of the Company's decisions at their expense and is required to maintain sufficient liquidity at all times, closing any open positions to cover the mandatory margin before the end of the week or at any other time the Company deems appropriate. This is typically done in cases of:

- High market volatility,
- Expected news events that may lead to high fluctuations,
- Large positions opened by the Client,
- Before official holidays,
- Otherwise, as the Company deems fit.

The Client acknowledges and accepts that if the margin level falls to a low point (usually about 10% or less, unless the Company agrees otherwise), or before that, if deemed necessary by the Company, the Company will close part or all of the open positions or open hedged positions. The Client understands that, in some cases, the Company may be unable to close positions at price levels that protect the Client from debts owed to the Company or obligations exceeding the Client’s deposited balance. In such cases, the Client accepts any debts incurred and agrees to pay them immediately to the Company. The Company is not obligated to request liquidity strengthening from the Client and is not responsible for closing open positions in the absence of sufficient liquidity. The Company may choose the time of closing positions at the Client’s expense to re-establish the account when sufficient liquidity is available.

The Client understands that all Company Transactions carry contingent liabilities and should be aware of the implications of margin requirements for clients, as detailed in the Company’s leverage policy. Exceptions to higher leverage may be given at the Company’s discretion with the Risk Department’s approval. The Client should maintain an appropriate margin to cover the risk of losing the entire investment, and the Company reserves the right to maintain the account margin in the absence of prior intervention by the Client. The Client may be required to deposit additional margin at short notice based on the margin level to maintain their investment. If the Client fails to provide such additional funds within the required timeframe, the Client’s investment position may be closed. Margin Close-out Protection: The Company offers margin close-out protection. The Stop-out level is set at 50%. If the margin level falls below 50%, the Client’s positions will begin liquidating, starting from the position with the highest losses. For Clients, the Stop-out level is set at 10%. If the margin level falls below 10%, positions will begin liquidating in the same manner.

In addition to maintaining a high margin level, the Client must consider the potential impact of spread increases, especially when dealing with partially hedged positions. Significant widening of spreads can affect the floating profit/loss, and in scenarios where positions are not fully hedged, increased spreads may trigger a stop-out of all positions.

Maximum Equity Leverage

$1 - $15,000	1:500
$15,001 - $25,000	1:400
$25,001 - $35,000	1:300
$35,001 – and above	1:200

The client must continuously review the Company’s leverage-related policies and ratios by monitoring the website and accessing the client portal to remain up to date with any modifications. The client acknowledges that by entering into trades or positions using leverage, they are deemed to have read and understood all policies, updates, and changes related to leverage and may not claim ignorance or lack of awareness.

If the Maximum Equity value in the client's account changes, the Company has the right to reduce the leverage in accordance with the tiers specified above.

If the leverage granted is 1:200 or more, the Company reserves the right to adjust the leverage based on the total number of open contracts across all of the client's accounts, without prior notice and as the Company deems appropriate.

The above tiers do not constitute an acquired right for any client. The adjustment and/or granting of a specific leverage level remains subject to the Company's approval and at its sole discretion.

The Company shall send the Client emails reminding him/her to update his/her legal documents, in case of non-response or failure to provide such documents, the Company may hold the funds until the Client updates his file.

28- Market Abuse

- 1) We reserve the right to hedge our liability to you by opening analogous positions with other institutions or in the Underlying Market. By doing so, when you open or close a Transaction relating to a share or other Instrument with us, your Transactions may influence the Underlying Market for that Instrument, in addition to impacting our own prices. This creates a potential for a market abuse and the purpose of this Term is to prevent such abuse.
- 2) You represent and warrant to us, and agree that each such representation and warranty is deemed repeated each time you open or close a Transaction, that:
 - a. you will not open and have not opened a Transaction or Transactions with us relating to a particular share price if doing so would result in you, or others with whom you are acting in concert together, having an exposure to the share price that is equals to or exceeds the amount of a declarable interest in the relevant company. For this purpose, the level of a declarable interest will be the prevailing level at the material time, set by law or by the stock exchange(s) on which the underlying share is listed;
 - b. you will not open and have not opened a Transaction with us in connection with:
 - i a placing, issue, distribution or other analogous event; or
 - ii an offer, take-over, merger or other analogous event, in which you are involved or otherwise interested; and
 - c. you will not open and have not opened a Transaction that contravenes any primary or secondary legislation or other law against insider dealing or market manipulation. For the purposes of this clause, you agree that we may proceed on the basis that when you open or close a Transaction with us on a share price, you may be treated as dealing 'in an investment or a related investment' within the meaning of the CBB Rules.
- 3) In the event that (a) you open any Transaction in breach of the representations and warranties given in this Agreement, or (b) we have reasonable grounds for suspecting that you have done so, we may, at our absolute discretion and without being under any obligation to inform you of our reason for doing so, close that Transaction and any other Transactions that you may have open at the time and also, at our absolute discretion:
 - a. enforce the Transaction or Transactions against you if it is a Transaction or Transactions under which you have incurred a loss; or
 - b. treat all your Transactions closed under this clause as void if they are Transactions under which you have secured a profit, unless and until you produce evidence that satisfies us that you have not, in fact, committed the breach of warranty and/or misrepresentation the suspicion of which was the ground for closing your Transaction(s). For the avoidance of doubt, if you do not produce such evidence within the period of six months from the date on which such Transaction was opened, all such Transactions will be finally null and void as between you and us.

- 4) You acknowledge that the Transactions in which you deal with us are speculative instruments and you agree that you will not open any Transactions with us in connection with any corporate finance style activity.
- 5) You acknowledge that it would be improper for you to deal in the Underlying Market if the sole purpose of such a transaction was to impact on our bid or offer prices, and you agree not to conduct any such transactions.
- 6) Misuse of Trading / Abusive Trading Practices Abusive trading includes engaging in opposite-direction trading across multiple accounts or trading just before economic news releases or market closures.

“Opposite-direction trading” refers to executing trades in contradictory directions (e.g., Buy and Sell) across more than one account, whether the accounts belong to the same user, are accessed from the same device or IP address, or from different devices, IPs, or individuals. If the Company, in its sole discretion—even without direct evidence—suspects that these trades are linked, they will be considered potentially coordinated or abusive.

In such cases, the Company and/or the foreign broker shall have the right to cancel any trades suspected of being abusive, whether such trades are open or closed. The Company may also cancel any withdrawal requests and reclaim any previously executed withdrawals in order to settle any outstanding balance resulting from such cancelled trades. The Company also reserves the right to immediately close the Client’s account. Furthermore, the Company and/or the foreign broker has the right to cancel any trades placed by any Client prior to economic news or market closures if it suspects—without the need for proof—that the Client is engaging in such trading with the intent of benefiting from favorable market movement post-announcement or post-reopening, while avoiding responsibility for losses resulting from unfavorable movement due to the use of leverage.

In such cases, the Company may cancel all such trades (whether closed or open), reject and reverse any withdrawal requests, and recover withdrawn amounts for settlement purposes. The Company may also immediately terminate the Client’s account.

If any abusive trading behaviour or techniques are identified within a clients’ trading account, the Company reserves the right to take the following actions:

46- Archiving

CFI has implemented an archiving policy for inactive accounts. If a trading account remains inactive, it may be subject to archiving at the Company's discretion. To prevent archiving, account holders must engage in trading activities. Reactivation of archived accounts is possible through the support team, with certain limitations applying. Notification of archiving may be sent via email or through the trading platform's notification system. The Company reserves the right to archive inactive accounts without prior notice, particularly in cases of security concerns or fraudulent activity.

Account holders remain obligated to fulfill any outstanding fees or agreements despite account archiving. Upon archiving, the Company may retain account information and transaction history for record-keeping and regulatory compliance purposes.

47- Classification of Trading Accounts

At CFI Financial (Bahrain) B.S.C CLOSED, Clients' trading accounts are classified as below:

Active	A Client who makes any deposit and/or transaction within 3 (three) consecutive months is considered an active client.
Inactive	A Client who didn't make any deposit and/or transaction for 3 (three) consecutive months is considered an inactive client. Archiving might apply.

Dormant	A Client with zero balance who did not make any trade for 6 (six) months, or a client with any balance who did not trade for more than 6 (six) months, is considered a dormant client. Dormant accounts will not be subject to any charges. If the client maintains a zero balance and remains inactive for 12 (twelve) months, the account will be automatically closed. Before closing the account, the Company must send three (3) registered notices to the client. These notices must be documented and attached to the account closure form if the client does not respond.
Closed	A Client can request via letter and/or email and/or by any other means accepted by the Company to close his/her trading account. When such occurs, the trading balance should be transferred to the client's Bank account or PSP as per the client's instructions, with a confirmation of account closure. If the account is closed by either party, the client is given one week's notice to withdraw. If the client does not proceed with the withdrawal, any remaining funds will be placed in the Agent account. No inactivity fees will be charged regardless of withdrawal delay.

Clients will not receive a notification email when their trading account categorization changes, as such classification is considered internal. However, in the case of dormant accounts, three (3) registered notices will be sent to the client prior to closure. These notices will be documented and attached to the account closure form if no response is received.

As part of its commitment to maintaining an active and engaged user community, CFI implements a policy regarding inactive accounts. If archived, the client can reactivate the account at any time by contacting the support team, though certain limitations may apply.
